

Label Complainers As Quitters, State Camp Treatment Fine

Evanston, Wyoming, August 7, 1933.

Dear Editor:

In regards to the piece in The Freeman on Wednesday evening, August 2, 1933, I wish to make numerous contradictions. In the first place the fellow who put that piece in the paper wasn't doing the Kingston boys any favors. As far as making a plea to you folks to do any appealing for us goes, well it is all a bit of bunk. At least it is news to us as we were never consulted about the matter. Furthermore when it comes to making appeals to the captain it is my belief that he does everything in his power to enlighten the difficulty whatever it may be. As far as the eating goes I can truthfully say there isn't a day passes that we don't have meat of some kind, and when I say meat I don't mean corned beef. That is a thing of the past. I am going to list some of the things that are consumed in this camp and also the rate at which they are consumed.

Last month there were 1,212 fresh quarters of beef, 270 fresh pork, 300 pounds of sausage frankfurters, 300 pounds of pork sausage, which was bought of the Cudaby Packing Co. in Salt Lake City. Then there was 548 chickens, 1,561 pounds of beef bought at the Palace Meat Market in Evanston, Wyoming. If anyone doubts this they may write to the mentioned places and satisfy themselves.

When it comes to the medical treatment I think I can be justified in saying that it is satisfactory to all of us. In the case where a man was kept in camp all night with a broken leg I don't think there is anyone who would want to ride 125 miles over rough road without first having his or her leg set and put in a cast. Well folks that is the situation of the broken leg. I think I can truthfully say that A. J. Branton, who happens to be the unfortunate one with the broken leg, is thoroughly satisfied with the treatment he received. And then there is the fellow with the toothache. It was his own foolishness for putting a hot water bottle on his stomach.

When the boys write home saying they are having a good time, I think they are telling the truth. It is only the fellows who can't take it who do the complaining. It is my opinion that the fellows who go home with all this hokey are just trying to square themselves. They don't consider the worry they cause the parents of the fellows who are game enough to stick it out.

When a fellow leaves here he is simply depriving his parents of that twenty-five dollars and I don't think that is fair, do you? Twenty-five dollars is a lot of money in times like these and a fellow should be proud of the opportunity to help his folks to that extent.

As far as quitting is concerned I think nine out of every ten men in this camp would refuse a discharge simply because they have the guts to stick it out and that is more than I can say for some fellows. I suppose that is putting it kind of raw but I have over two hundred and fifty fellows backing me up.

The fellow who put that in the paper seems to be taking the responsibility of the whole camp upon himself. We don't want him to do it as he may exert himself. When we want any appealing done we won't ask one fellow to do it for us. We will do our appealing through some kind of petition if we find it necessary to do so which we haven't as yet. None of us fellows were ever informed that such a note was going to the paper and as a satisfied C. C. Company we deny every thing that was said. This is all I have to say so I will close hoping this comforts a lot of discouraged parents. I remain as ever,

Sincerely Yours,
Burton L. Baesmer
In co-operation with the

The Kingston Daily Freeman
Kingston, New York.

Dear Sir:

I wish to make a protest against the falsehoods that some of the Kingston boys of our camp made to you.

In the first place the protests were made by a bunch of homesick boys who just couldn't "take it."

About the food. The first two weeks consisted of garrison rations, canned beef, potatoes, cereal, milk, bread, etc. After that our meals got better and better every day. Of course there were some that couldn't stand the gaff and fell by the wayside (so as to speak or got their discharge).

You will always find in every organization of this kind, men will grumble and grumble, so I take this opportunity to tell the mothers of the boys who are still here, to be at ease as their sons are being given nourishing food and the best of care is being taken to safeguard their safety. Of course accidents will happen like the late Ernest O'Brien getting killed by falling under a truck but that was a thing that could not be helped.

About that fellow with his leg broken. About that fellow—

Believe That Milk Strike Is Simmering

Syracuse, N. Y., Aug. 11 (AP)—New York state's milk strike, which for ten days, came down to a summer time moratorium, is now about over, was the consensus of law officers.

What led them to this conclusion? Fewer trucks on the roads. More milk being received at dairy plants in a wide area.

Reopening of 16 plants of the Queensboro Company in the Bronx area without disturbance.

Thinning of crowds that have kept dairy plants under surveillance.

Continued arrangements growing out of arrests yesterday and Wednesday night.

Strike leaders understood to be working on "peace agreements."

From Albany came this word: "No reports of trouble today. Some milk was sold by night riders last night, however."

Buffalo repeated its laconic: "All quiet on the western front."

Rochester, after surveying its territory said: "All quiet this area. Patrols out, report no signs of activity."

Eight of the Queensboro plants, however, said they received little or no milk. Strikers interpreted this as meaning that the situation still favored them. A newspaper survey of these plants showed:

Wampsville, normal 180 cans, received none; Blossville, none; Herkimer, normal 225, received 14; Tronton, received "a little"; Washington Mills, Kirville, Peterboro and Bartlett, received "little or none."

The picture elsewhere, however, was different. Amsterdam, most affected city in the state, reported: "Indications are that the milk strike is weakening in western Montgomery county. Farmers' trucks, guarded by state troopers, today delivered 125 cans to the Dairyman's League plant at St. Johnsville, 56 to one at Canajoharie and 20 to Ponda."

In the Little Falls area, Dairyman's League stations at East Bridge, Middleville, Dolgeville and Jordanville reopened this morning and received about a third of their normal supplies, while the league plant at Richfield Springs, near the northern county line of Otsego, reported receipts "nearly normal."

Stanley Plisek of Newport, ferry leader of the strike in east-central counties, however, characterized as "damnable lies" the report that the strike was on the wane. "The holiday will continue," he said.

MATHEWSON IN NEW YORK TO CONSULT SPECIALISTS.

New York, Aug. 11 (AP)—Christopher (Christy) Mathewson, Jr., who was critically injured in an airplane accident in China last year in which his bride of two weeks was killed, arrived in New York today to consult specialists. He hopes will mend his broken body.

Taken from the train in a wheel chair, the young aviator plainly showed the effects of the great battle he has fought to regain his health since the loss of his left leg.

Mathewson went to China two years ago as an instructor in the government's aviation school and his marriage while there to Margaret Phillips of Philadelphia followed a romance of four years.

He was taking his bride on her first airplane ride in Shanghai when the crash occurred. The plane went into a nose dive after it had risen only 50 feet.

The body of the wife was returned to Philadelphia for burial some time ago.

Flanagan And Mann To Head Democratic City Ticket Here

E. Frank Flanagan for Mayor and Sam N. Mann for Alderman-At-Large is State Expected To Be Approved At Convention Saturday.

Public Works Commissioner E. Frank Flanagan of the clothing firm of Flanagan, Archer and Watkins of Wall street, will be selected to head the Democratic ticket for the office of mayor this fall, at the Democratic city convention to be held in the old armory on Saturday, while Deputy City Clerk Sam N. Mann will be selected for the office of alderman-at-large, according to the latest information.

The Democrats will also hold a county convention to name candidates for county clerk, district attorney and coroner. According to the latest dope City Assessor William B. Martin, whose boom for mayor was punctured recently by the Democratic leaders, has been offered the nomination for county clerk, and if he does not care to have his name mentioned for the office at the convention it is expected that an out of town man will be named.

For district attorney two men have been suggested Arthur B. Ewig and William A. Kaercher, both downtown attorneys.

It is expected that an out of town man will be named for coroner. The convention will convene at 11 o'clock and it is expected to complete its business before adjourning for dinner.

SEE AMERICA AFTER NAVAL BASE IN LOWER CALIFORNIA

Tokyo, Aug. 11 (AP)—Vernacular newspapers printed what they called "reliable information" today that America was negotiating with Mexico for a naval base in Lower California and to statements attributed to naval officers that such a base would seriously menace peace in the Pacific.

These reports reached the foreign office from official sources in the United States, a spokesman said, but he declined to reveal whether they were Japanese or non-Japanese. He added that the government was not perturbed and that an investigation was considered unnecessary.

The newspaper Nichi Nichi, however, that the foreign office was studying the matter since such a base would be in violation of the Washington Naval Treaty.

Newspapers, keeping alive the popular belief about "American naval ambitions" at a time when a forthcoming budget including large appropriations for defense is being considered, identified the site of the base as Magdalena Bay, on the southwest coast of Lower California.

They pointed out that the United States fleet spent a month there on a world cruise in 1908 and that when the Japanese cruiser Asama was stranded near the bay in 1915 the American press charged Japan was seeking a base there.

POPE PIUS STRONG ADMIRER OF PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT

Vatican City, Aug. 11 (AP)—Pope Pius is a strong admirer of President Roosevelt, Bishop John M. Gannon, of Erie Pa., said today after an audience of one hour with the Pontiff in which they discussed ecclesiastical and secular affairs in the United States.

The Bishop told the Pope he was hopeful of conditions in the United States, that the most critical period seems to have passed, and that a great difference will be noticeable within a year. The Pope expressed himself as equally hopeful.

Means of alleviating unemployment and of helping the jobless were discussed by the Pontiff and his visitor.

In the meantime the police are investigating a remark she made saying she was a "gun moll."

Machado's Own Liberal Party Wants Him To Surrender Office

Executive Committee Says Government Has Submitted To U. S. Ambassador Welles a Counter-Proposal by Which The President Would Surrender His Office To General Herrera, Present Secretary of War.

Havana, Aug. 11 (AP)—Members of the executive committee of President Gerardo Machado's own Liberal party said today that the government had submitted to United States Ambassador Sumner Welles a counter-proposal by which the President would surrender his office to General Alberto Herrera, the present secretary of war.

The Popular and the Conservative parties already have demanded that the President step down, and now his own political organization has come forward with a plan accomplishing the same object.

The action of the Liberals in part reversed their decision yesterday when they held that Ambassador Welles was guilty of "intermeddling" and that his mediation activities were prejudicial to the sovereignty of Cuba.

Ramon De Leon and a number of members of the Liberal executive committee gave confirmation that the counter-proposal had been submitted.

By this plan the present secretary of state, Orestes Ferrara, would resign and General Herrera would be appointed by President Machado to his post.

Thereafter General Machado would ask congress for a leave of absence, thus opening the way for General Herrera to succeed to the presidency in conformity with the provisions of the Cuban constitution.

General Herrera's occupancy of the presidency would be transitory, it was said. The reason behind the proposal that he take the position at all is that the Liberal party, to which President Machado belongs, is unwilling to surrender power immediately without a period of readjustment. General Herrera also is a Liberal.

Once he ascended to the presidency, General Herrera would form a national cabinet representing all the political factions, and the work of mediation in the nation's political conflict would be continued.

This counter-proposal was advanced after Ambassador Welles, who has been in charge of the work of mediation for several weeks, had advanced a plan similar in outline.

The Welles plan was that President Machado appoint a secretary of state acceptable to all parties and that the president then ask for a leave, turning over power to this secretary of state, who would succeed him and set up a permanent administration.

Government to Buy Under Blue Eagle

Washington, Aug. 11 (AP)—A presidential order and governmental example pushed along today the National Recovery Administration's organized campaign to "buy under the blue eagle emblem" of industrial recovery.

Closely following the remark by Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator, that "it would be curious" if the government dealt with firms not coming in under the recovery program, President Roosevelt last night backed the administrator's words with a presidential order virtually fulfilling Johnson's prediction.

House, issued at the executive order that all government contracts would be cancelled if the contractor would not comply with the recovery code. Government contracts greatly will include a big part of the $2,300,000,000 public works fund.

ROBERT LAFORETTE

BY HERBERT PLUMMER
WASHINGTON—There are many ways of getting to Congress. Being associated with the house of a senator in minor positions often has paved the way for a career of a committee or a secretary of a member to win a seat in his own right.

Perhaps the most outstanding example is that of "Young Bob" LaFollette, Senator of Wisconsin. LaFollette can remember as a boy following his father around on his campaign tours in Wisconsin. Later he became his father's secretary.

"Young Bob's" remarks in the senate are often punctuated with references to his associations with his father. In the closing hours of the special session he conducted a fight for publicity of income tax returns. He admitted at the time that he was merely continuing a crusade launched years ago "by my illustrious father."

There are two other senators in the present congress who began their political careers in minor capacities on Capitol Hill. And there are numerous representatives who trace their political origin to that source.

Up, Up, Up!
Senator Wallace H. White, Jr., republican of Maine, was an assistant clerk to the senate committee on commerce and also served as secretary to the president of the senate and the late Senator William F. Frye of Maine.

Representative Champ Clark, democratic senator from Missouri, served as parliamentarian of the house under his father, the late Speaker Champ Clark.

Representative E. A. Tamm of Georgia served as chief clerk in the house post office in 1911 as well as secretary to William Schley Howard, member of congress in 1912.

Representative Chaves served as a clerk in the senate in 1919 and is now a representative-at-large from New Mexico.

Representative Cochran of Minnesota was secretary to the late William J. Stone and clerk to the senate committee on foreign relations.

Evaluation
Representative McLean of New Jersey was a page in the senate in 1897 and also was private secretary to Senator John Kean of New Jersey from 1902 to 1911.

Mrs. Florence P. Kahn of California and Mrs. Edith Monroe Rogers of Massachusetts, now members of the house, were associated in the offices of their husbands when they were representatives from their respective states.

Paul Kvale, senior sitting member in the house of the farmer-labor party, was elected to fill the vacancy from Minnesota occasioned by the sudden death of his father, the late Paul Kvale, clerk of the house, reelected the order. He is a former representative from Kentucky, first serving as a representative and then as an official.

And Edwin A. Halsey, secretary of the senate, came to that body in the capacity of a page and served in various minor roles of the senate before being elected its secretary.

Kingston Boy Pleased With Wyoming Camp

Co. 236, C. C. C., Mountain View, Wyoming, Aug. 6, 1934.
Kingston Daily Freeman, Kingston, N. Y.

Dear Sir:

While reading The Freeman in camp I happened to run across a letter sent in by one of the boys from Co. 231. I won't say that those statements are untrue, but they can not be as bad as the letter makes one believe.

Parents who have sons in some camp will undoubtedly think that all the camps are in the same condition. To put their mind at ease I will say a few things about our camp and conditions.

Our camp is located on Smiths-ford, 29 miles from Mountain View, the nearest town. The tents are pitched on a slight rise in a narrow valley. We have many modern conveniences, including pool, a bath house with hot showers and a mess hall. Like all other companies, we have all sorts of athletic equipment from volley balls to boxing gloves.

We get up at 8 a. m. for reveille. Breakfast is served at 8:30. Eight o'clock we have camp for work on the road, timbering or the telephone line. Incidentally the telephone line has just been completed.

Dinner is served on the field at 12 and we leave for the camp at 1:30 p. m. So you can see our working hours are not long.

We have Wednesdays and Sundays off. Wednesdays are set aside for floor scrubbing and the usual cleaning-up for inspection by the captain. Otherwise we have the rest of the day to ourselves.

As for pleasure, we have no reason to complain. Trucks are available every Saturday and Sunday for dances or movies. During the evenings the mess hall is used for reading, letter writing or any other diversion. We even have a radio.

All the boys in Co. 236 have no reason to kick on account of the food. Our meals are of the best, and Lieut. Kennedy, who is head officer in the kitchen, makes sure that everyone has enough. I admit we had plenty of corned beef hash and hard-tack, but that was only for the first two weeks during which we were on field rations. Since then everything is O. K. For an example, this is what we just had for dinner: Steak, mashed potatoes, green beans, gravy, bread and butter, pie and coffee. What can be wrong with such meals? We couldn't get better "chow" in a restaurant. We also have plenty of milk.

The officers in charge are as good as can be found anywhere. Captain Grose, our camp commander, is one of the best fellows we ever met. Whenever anyone has a complaint to make he can go to the captain and be sure that he will fix everything to everyone's satisfaction. If there is a prize for the best camp commander in the C. C. C.'s, I am sure that Captain Grose would be among the leaders.

I admit that the medical treatments aren't very good, but what can be expected when the nearest town is 30 miles away. To date very few boys have complained of the medical treatments. The trouble with most fellows in 231 is the fact that they like light-duty too much. Please publish all or part of this letter, to put the mind of some mother who is worrying at ease.

LARGE AUDIENCE AT WEST PARK MOVIES

There was a large attendance last evening at the moving pictures and entertainment given at the Community Center House of the Church of the Ascension at West Park, where Hollister Sturges showed moving pictures of his and Mrs. Sturges' travels since "Miss Golden" danced. The pictures, particularly the colored ones of the Century of Progress Fair at Chicago, were most timely while those of the landing of Balbo and his air fleet at the fair as taken by Mr. Sturges were thrilling indeed. All were interested in the other travelogue movies from Africa, Honolulu, New Zealand, etc., showing as they did native customs and dances in action, a feature of travelogue pictures not often enjoyed. The audience was greatly disappointed that at the last moment Miss Jean Hamilton was unable to dance owing to the too late delayed arrival of the special motor for her dance. But the audience was charmed with the dance given by Miss Golden in which she was very sympathetically and effectively accompanied by Mrs. Raoul Nadeau.

Color of Sea Water
The deep blue of the ocean contrasted with green water near shore appears to be due to the selective absorption of certain parts of the sun's rays by these organisms. Clear sea water looks blue from the surface because of the unabsorbed rays of this color are reflected. If plankton are present some of the red and yellow rays are also reflected. A mixture of the blue and yellow gives the appearance of green.

American Heroines
By LOUISE M. COMSTOCK

"Captain Molly" Corbin

VARIOUS are the ways by which women have served their country during times of war. But one who actually shed her blood on the field of battle was Margaret Corbin, the "Captain Molly" whose remains were recently moved from the J. P. Morgan estate at Highland Falls and reburied with military pomp in a spot of honor at West Point.

Margaret Corbin was undoubtedly the first woman to distinguish herself on an American battlefield. During November of 1776 Colonel Robert Magaw with 200 Revolutionary troops was defending Fort Mifflin against the onslaught of the combined British forces under General Howe. By November 15 the greater portion of the American stronghold had been taken. Only the northern outpost remained, that section called Fort Mifflin, a few fragmentary ruins of which may still be seen at One Hundred and Ninety-fifth street, in New York city. Against this the British sent their Hessian mercenaries commanded by Knyphausen. British batteries from an opposite hill opened fire, digging into the earthworks about the fort and protecting the Hessian soldiers as they stormed up the hill.

Manning one of the two cannon with which Fort Mifflin answered this attack was a young Virginian, John Corbin, and beside him stood his wife Margaret, who had followed him to war and shared with him its perils. For three hours she stood there, helping him, watching comrades sink to death about them and the Hessians creep closer and closer. Then suddenly John Corbin fell, with a bullet through his breast. His gun was silent. But only for a minute. For there soon appeared on the ramparts a strange figure, a stalwart young woman in homespun, not Margaret Corbin now, but "Captain Molly" Corbin, leaning over her dead husband to load his cannon and return the enemy's fire.

Wearily minutes later she also was wounded, the cannon was silent once more, and Fort Mifflin was taken. The British carried the wounded woman across the Hudson under a flag of truce, gave her hospital treatment, and released her under the stipulation that she should not again take up arms for America in the war. When the war was over, she was pensioned on a soldier's half pay and the value of a suit of clothes a year, and until her death at the age of forty-nine she was supported by the military establishment in a private home near West Point.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Hackensack, N. J., Aug. 11 (AP).—Anthony Nadratowski, 34, whose arrest for non-appearance in court was last of carfare found Judge Abrahamson quick with a solution.

A short time after a bench warrant had been issued for his arrest, Nadratowski telephoned the judge from Jersey City saying he did not owe the fare to Hackensack.

Before he was through talking, Nadratowski was confronted by police who had traced the call, and taken to Hackensack in a patrol wagon.

Final Daughter After 34 Years.
Davis, Okla.—J. J. Allen, who celebrated his 100th birthday this week, lived here three years before "meeting" one of his daughters, whom he had not seen for 34 years. He remarried at the age of 80 and became the father of twins. More than 150 of his descendants attended his birthday celebration.

An Ill Flood.
Denver, Colo.—Eight million dollars worth of gold was washed into Denver by the Cherry Creek flood last week, water board engineers estimated.

Samples of the silt have been assayed 20 cents in gold to the ton. But authorities said the silt which carried the gold here is spread so thinly over the landscape it cannot be "mined" profitably.

A Day For Dogs.
New York—Dogs are to have their day. "Animal Hero Day" will fall on October 28. Dogs that have performed heroic actions or shown conspicuous devotion to duty will be honored, according to an announcement by Mrs. Diana Bellas, founder of the New York Anti-Vivisection Society.

Unlucky Seven.
Paramus, N. J.—Seven are causing Arthur Amos nightmare these days. His wife accused him in court of striking her seven times. So Judge Abrahamson sentenced Amos to seven nights in jail. He is locked up at 7 p. m. and released at 7 a. m. to go to work.

Truism.
Chicago—Dr. Hugh W. MacMillan

of Chestnut predicted that human teeth are destined to become useless appendages—in a hundred million years or so.

In a semi-serious way he told delegates to the Continental Dental Congress that concentrated pro-alignment foods in the dental future would make teeth unnecessary.

Back Tree Always City.
New York—An elm tree in Brooklyn is still and free lovers throughout the city are alarmed. The dead tree and its shadow were appearing several weeks ago near East 67th St. N. Y. has attacked a tree on Grand Parkway, Brooklyn. Government officials fighting the infection fear that unless they clamp it off quickly it will spread throughout the northeast.

The Lost is Found.
Omaha—In the pocket of her late husband's hunting coat, Mrs. Stella A. Ford found his will.

It made for her the difference between his entire $5,000 estate and the widow's half interest.

A Knockout.
Evansville, Ind.—Despite her somewhat frail figure of 116 pounds, Miss Sarah M. Scott, a supervisor of nurses, did this:

When a 210 pound six-foot man allegedly tried to seize her in an "L" station she scratched and kicked. The man staggered away. Three blocks away the police caught him and had to take him to a hospital for medical treatment. They said they identified him as Paul McMahon, a former reformatory inmate.

CLUSTER COUNTY ROUTE 22 WILL SOON BE COMPLETED

Route 22 from New Paltz to Kingston is well under way, being completed from New Paltz to the Walkkill river. New bridges already are almost completed across the Walkkill and the Rondout rivers. A new concrete mixer arrived at DeWitt corners, and concreting is started from DeWitt corners toward Kingston. This strip will be done in about 10 days, weather permitting.

The intersection at DeWitt corners is being widened considerably, it being the crossing of Route 22 and the Macadam leading to 9W from Route 22. At DeWitt corners the bridge is widened 20 feet on account of the swift flowing stream and there being a nine foot waterfall at the point. It has been very difficult to establish the forms for concreting. Many men are engaged at this work at both sides of the present bridge.

Peace Time Farms In Gran Chaco Planned By Paraguay's President

By GIDEON SEYMOUR.

SENTEZ AREA (AP)—A plan by Paraguay to plant 100,000 Mennonites and Dukhobors from Canada and Mexico in the eastern Gran Chaco region has been revealed by advices from American capital of that country.

President Estigarribia Ayala, the advice state already has obtained promises of cooperation from Chaco landholders to whom he indicated that an understanding had been reached with spokesmen for the prospective colonists.

Depends Upon War's End.
The project depends upon conclusion of the Paraguayan-Bolivian war, recently referred for settlement to the combined good offices of Argentina, Brazil, Chile and Peru.

It also would require Paraguayan cession of the central Gran Chaco region as far westward as the sixty-first parallel. Present battle lines are about 50 miles inside that parallel, but Paraguayan authorities are counting upon regaining the territory essential to their colonization program.

If the present fighting should end inconclusively, simmering down to such a status as followed the hostilities of 1928, Paraguay might press the scheme without waiting for a treaty fixing a definite boundary. It regards colonization as more conducive than warfare to a final settlement of the old quarrel.

Government Pays Fare.

The financing of the mass migration from another continent and the placing of the farmers upon quickly productive land offer problems to which Paraguay also is giving attention. The government intends to transport the immigrants, and land owners have agreed to sell to Paraguayan agricultural holdings near the 75,000-acre colony where 10,000 Mennonites have been settled since 1927.

To bring 100,000 new colonists into the Chaco would take ten years, it is estimated, but it would treble the white population. Paraguay already obtains from the Chaco about half of the government revenues.

Mineral Riches Lacking.
The new settlers would be exempt, as are the present Mennonite colonists, from compulsory military service, to which they object on religious grounds. They would govern and police their own communities.

Paraguay regards the future of the Chaco as lying essentially in agriculture and livestock, despite the impression that the region is potentially rich in ore and oil.

READY FOR PEACE IN WAR FIELD

Ensebio Ayala (left), president of Paraguay, convinced that his country will win from Bolivia the Gran Chaco region, shown on map, has begun arrangements to bring 100,000 Mennonite and Dukhobor farmers to the region from Canada and Mexico. Real tall corn grows there, as the upper picture testifies.

Geologists have reported there is no more reason to expect petroleum or minerals under the rich red loam of the Chaco than beneath the soil of southernmost Brazil, of which geologically it is a continuation.

Dislike War Notes.
Dissatisfaction among some Chaco Mennonites, which came to a head seven months ago in a threat to migrate to Uruguay or southern Brazil, has died down.

Those who favored removal, because of the war and the inadaptability of the land to wheat and cotton, were reminded that the average colonist had done well. The wealthiest of those who came in 1927 is reputed to have banked $30,000.

Marketing of Fruit To Be Discussed Here

Albany, Aug. 11—Senator John T. McCall, chairman of the New York State Perishable Fruit Commission, today announced that there will be a meeting of the Commission at the Court House at Kingston on Monday next at 2 o'clock P. M. Daylight Saving time, at which meeting fruit growers in the Hudson valley are invited to be present and express their views as to how the marketing conditions of New York State fruit may be improved.

"The Commission," said Senator McCall, "is investigating chiefly the production and marketing of apples, pears, peaches, plums, grapes, cherries, currants, strawberries and raspberries. It is urged that every grower in the Hudson Valley who can be present at the hearing Monday next do so and present their views to the commission."

SUBWAY IN BUENOS AIRES JOINS RAILS TO MARKETS

Buenos Aires (AP)—A link between a new city subway and the Plaza, once railway terminal, enables trains of four roads to deliver meat, fruit, vegetables and dairy products to markets without trans-shipment or trucking.

The railway produce trains, including those from Paraguay, use the subway tracks between 1 a. m. and dawn.

The largest market thus served supplies most street peddlers of fruits and vegetables. It has two 15-ton elevators, the largest in South America, to handle daily 500 tons of vegetables, 700 of fruit, 120 of meat and 60 of dairy products.

Colima, Aug. 11 (AP).—A military unit left today over the fate of eight American Catholic Priests and Sisters of Mercy imprisoned in Teacalco water rebus captured from provincial troops June 11.

Since then, the government soldiers have been unsuccessfully trying to recapture the town, which is in Hucan Province and 400 miles southwest of Mexico City. Communication facilities are disrupted.

American Catholic authorities here and at Sanchope, 75 miles north of Teacalco, have tried for two weeks to get direct word from the priests and sisters.

Walter Adams, United States consul general here, has asked the Hucan Government to try to safe return all Americans in the battle

Statue of Liberty Isn't In Army Now

New York, Aug. 11 (AP)—The Lady of Bedloe's Island won't carry the torch for the army any more.

The trouble is simply this: The army no longer can support her in the style to which she had become accustomed.

Two years ago she got lit up. That was the army's doing. The army spent about $46,666 and the Lady of Bedloe's Island was lit like the marquee of a cinema house—flood-lights and that sort of thing to make her lovely by night as she is lovely by day.

The army was extremely proud. Nothing is too good for its women folk.

Unfortunately, some gentleman in Washington became impressed with a need for economy. They looked over the books and came upon that item of $46,666 for propping the Lady of Bedloe's Island. Forty thousand dollars just to get a lady properly lit.

"Generals," said the gentleman in Washington, addressing the army, "we prefer to have as much admiration for feminine beauty as the next fellow; and we are not denying that perhaps in our day we, too, wore kay blades."

"We cannot agree, however, that in these times any such sum as $40,000 should be spent to light any lady. Besides, she's got a torch, and she isn't going anywhere anyway."

"We have come, therefore, to the conclusion that from now on the Lady of Bedloe's Island—the Statue of Liberty—shall cease to be a concern of the United States army. Henceforth she will be cared for by the department of the interior, which is a very good department, though little given to romance or the practice of spending $40,000 to get ladies lit up."

"After all, the Lady of Bedloe's Island is 47 years old and weighs 225 tons, and she can't expect to be treated like a chorus girl."

Roman Gold Coins

Roman gold coins were issued about 217 B. C., and were called austerili. The head of Mars appears on the early ones, followed by others with the head of young Janus and warriors swearing an oath over the body of a pig on the obverse. Still later, the issues of gold were resumed by Sulla in 83 B. C., and Julius Caesar in 45 B. C.

NORMANDY OBSERVES ITS TENTH CENTURY

Cities and Towns in Gale Attire for Event.

Continued.—Celebration of the thousandth anniversary of Normandy opened here recently and will be observed in other towns throughout the district during the summer.

The fetes are held in honor of Normandy, the country of apple blossoms, of green pastures and rolling streams, which has existed since there were any memories of this verdant countryside, but are being held in commemoration of the Tenth century of the Normandy of the Normans. Incidentally, the anniversary has been made an occasion for the historians and the archeologists to make known and discuss Norman history and art.

The city of Coutances, with its magnificent Norman cathedral, has been decorated with the famous Viking flag bearing three gold leopards which flew from the mastheads of the Norse dragon ships of war when they first began their raids on the French rivers in 911. A Viking war craft with its shields and dragon-headed prow, a reproduction of the queen's ship which was unearthed on the Oslo fjord, was borne in the historical pageant through the streets, while numbers of the terrible Norse heroes, including Rollo, the first Norse conqueror of Normandy, were impersonated.

At the historical congress which was held here under the chairmanship of Professor Prentout of the University of Caen, papers were read by French and foreign historians dealing with the Norman race and its Tenth and Eleventh century exploits.

The fetes have been made the occasion for a demonstration of friendship with Norway, which sent representatives, and exchanged telegrams with the Normandy officials.

Rarest Precious Stone Found in California

Hollister, Calif.—Few of the world's jewel collectors know that one of the rarest of all precious stones—Benitoite—is found only in one small surface deposit, the area of which is no larger than a good sized room, in San Benito county.

The tract of soil containing the deposit has been under lease to Otis Dunn, Santa Paula, Calif., for several years. Economic conditions of the last three years caused him to close operations. He plans to resume working the deposit soon.

The finest Benitoites are clear transparent blue in color, shading into the palest lavender and white. Only one clear white Benitoite ever has been found.

Benitoites, as the rarest gems in the world, consequently are the most valuable, according to Dunn. They are known to but few collectors. They are found imbedded in solid rock and the only way to remove them without chancing damage is to place the ore in acid, which eats away the rock but does not injure the Benitoite. It is then cut and polished the same as a diamond.

Last Member of Court of Mad Empress Is Dead

Kansas City, Mo.—Death of Mrs. Kate Kentling, ninety-six, at Springfield, Mo., recently brought to an end the tragedy and misery which resulted from Emperor Maximilian's ill-fated attempt to establish a monarchy in Mexico nearly 70 years ago.

Mrs. Kentling went from Austria to Mexico as lady in waiting to the Empress Carlota and the bride of William Heide, handmaster to the emperor. The handmaster was injured during an earthquake just before the final collapse of the regime and the couple after great hardships made their way to New Orleans and then to St. Louis.

The handmaster died there as a result of his injuries and the young widow married Frank Kentling, a bookkeeper. They established a store in the Ozark town of Highland, Mo., and reared eight children, several of whom served in the army during the World War. She was the last survivor of the Maximilian court.

Rock Hunters a Pest

Excelsior Springs, Mo.—Construction of rock gardens and fish ponds has become such a fad here that Police Chief William Payne issued a recent edict against digging rocks from highways. It was necessary to delegate a special patrolman to enforce the rule for a number of days.

Rode Rode 1,000 Miles

Boston.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Denmore and two small daughters, the youngest only six months old, arrived at the home of relatives here after riding more than 1,000 miles on freight cars and hitch-hiking the rest of the way from El Paso, Texas.

Gull Delivers Fish to Hands of Angler

Taft, Ore.—John Marple, while fishing in Slitz bay, noticed two seagulls fighting over a 15-pound blackback salmon. Finally one of them conquered the other and flew away with his catch.

The fish was so heavy the bird could not carry it. As it flew low over Marple's head he reached up and plucked the salmon out of the seagull's beak. That's Marple's story.

Accident History

Even the man who claims to have forgotten everything he learned in school is likely to remember that the Virginia hotel at Plymouth Rock, and that the fighting of the American Revolution began with a number of shots fired on Lexington green.

La Guardia For Mayor!—And Tammany Tiger Roars

New York Sees November Battle Lines Laid Down

By NOEL THORNTON

New York (AP)—Buoyed by the confidence of 116 years operation of its gigantic political machine, Tammany is confronted by the most militant opposition it has faced in more than half a century.

In November a mayor is to be elected to rule New York for the next four years. John F. Curry and his governing council in the ranks of the Tiger wigwag already have named Mayor John P. O'Brien as their choice to succeed himself.

McKee Vote Significant

Ordinarily this would be tantamount to saying that he would be the next mayor, but this is not an ordinary year. The 400,000 Republican voters in New York have aligned themselves with several powerful fusionist groups, in close association with Judge Samuel Seabury, and the result has been selection of the independent, Fiorello H. LaGuardia, as mayoralty candidate to wrest control from Tammany.

Usually Tammany has been able to corral 60 per cent of the registered voters, of which there are 2,333,617 this year. Political observers think they will have more than ordinary difficulty keeping their forces in line at the November polls.

Not only are there the Republicans, but what some regard more significant is the fact that Joseph V. McKee polled 290,000 anti-Tammany votes last fall when his name was written in as an opponent to O'Brien.

Budget Is Sore Spot

The precarious condition of the municipal budget has kept Tammany office holders in constant hot water this year, and there is the added annoyance of the fiery protests which have greeted Mayor O'Brien's proposals for taxation.

Judge Seabury, who refused the fusionist mayoralty candidacy himself, is the man behind the scenes in this newly organized barrage to drive out Tammany from its political control. Since his wholesale indictment of city office holders during the Hofstadter legislative investigation—an inquiry which resulted in the resignation of Mayor James J. Walker—his political influence has risen.

LaGuardia A Fighter

When he and Kingsland W. Macy,

Pugilism

The word "pugilism" comes from the Latin word meaning boxer and a Greek word meaning with clenched fist. The first mention of such fighting in literature is found in the twenty-third book of the Iliad; another full description is in Virgil, Aeneid.

In the Louvre

An inventory of the ministry of education lists the following relics in the Louvre: Greek and Roman antiquities, 22,000; eastern antiquities, 33,000; paintings and drawings, 82,500; sculpture, 2,068; furniture and art objects, 5,228; Far East objects, 2,223.

Cork Still in Limelight

Despite the fact that metal caps and glass and rubber plugs have displaced cork from the dominant position it once held as the king of bottle stoppers, it requires more than 200,000 tons of cork annually to supply the world's demands.

O'Brien Reign Facing Strong Challenge

November will bring a strong test for New York's powerful Tammany and its candidate, Mayor John P. O'Brien (extreme left) when Fiorello LaGuardia, fusion candidate for the post, opposes him. It will be a struggle for control of the city that will find the forces of Tammany Hall, headed by John F. Curry (left center), battling against the fusionists allied with Judge Samuel Seabury (right center) and their candidate LaGuardia.

state republican chairman, demanded that LaGuardia be selected as fusionist candidate; they won a dynamic candidate. LaGuardia, an Italian and a former congressman, has long been a power in New York politics. Despite the potentiality of the threat of this fusionist attack, the Tammany ranks are going quietly along with their plans. With many years of victories behind them, and with the influence of nearly 150,000 current office holders, they say they have little to fear. Withal, New York seems nearing one of the most bitterly fought mayoralty races in its history.

When He Can't Swim
By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH

To let a child go out in a boat alone or accompanied only by an adult who cannot swim shows on the part of the child's guardians either a complete ignorance of water or extreme negligence.

The papers are constantly reporting the drowning of members of picnic parties, or more often of boys who, though unable to swim, were out in a canoe or rowboat which capsized. To allow a child to do a thing the danger of which he does not realize is encouraging him to be not brave, but rash, and anyone who does it is courting tragedy.

There is no use in half-way measures when it is a question of children and water.

A little child may be permitted to go to the edge of the water, on a sloping beach with a reasonable assurance that he will be safe. But the spirit of adventure in children is strong, and there is always a chance that some day, somehow he will go out of bounds, and, though parent and guardian may have a very salutary scare, the results may be far more serious.

There is no need to teach a child fear of the water. In fact, such a training would defeat the desired end which is to make a child at home in it. If a child is taught from earliest childhood that without the presence of an adult who can swim he cannot so near the water; if he is deterred from boats and fishing because he cannot swim, it is amazing how soon he will evince an eagerness to learn.

The prohibition may seem cruel, and a hardship to parent and child alike, but in the end it will open a new world of sport to the child both in and out of the water, and may save the parents vain regrets for an unnecessary loss of life.

Cereal Relieved His Constipation

Read this enthusiastic letter from Mr. Haraden:

"My system had been run down for quite some time. About three weeks ago, I started taking ALL-BRAIN for breakfast. I had been unable to sleep nights, but now all I have to do is turn in, and before I know it, I am fast asleep.

"I used to have a third feeling all day, but now that ALL-BRAIN is in my home to stay, there will be no more third feelings with me."—Mr. Carl Haraden, Main Street, Hamilton, Massachusetts.

Science says that ALL-BRAIN provides "bile" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. Also from for the blood.

The "bile" in ALL-BRAIN is much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, this cleans out the intestinal wastes.

Isn't this safer than taking pills and drugs—often harmful! Just eat two tablespoons daily for most types of constipation. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Closing Campfire At Boy Scout Camp

Tonight the closing campfire and banquet of the season will be held at Camp Half-Moon, the Boy Scout Camp and the camp will close for the season Saturday.

Thursday was "backward" day at the camp, everything being done backward. Taps were sounded in the morning and supper was the first meal of the day, all other parts of the day's regular program being reversed.

Wednesday the boys ran the camp for the day and one of the first things they did was to put the regular camp staff on K. P. duty. The leaders for the day were chosen at a camp election Tuesday, the contest being between the "Hot Bottoms" and the "Hot Dogs." The "Hot Bottoms" won out, with the following named as the camp staff for the day: Camp director, E. VanLoon; water front, Jack Sprague; nature, J. DeNik; handicraft, G. Knoll; pioneers, E. S. Taylor; Indians, R. Piero; cowboys, J. Carnright; steward, J. Kich. There was only one office the boys decided not to trifle with, that of chef, the regular chef, Wayne Wiseman, being retained as usual.

The NEW

Goodrich Safety Silvertown

WITH LIFE-SAVER GOLDEN PLY

... Local Firm Named by Goodrich to Sell their New LIFE-SAVING TIRE ...

THE R. F. Goodrich Rubber Company has appointed us dealers for the new Goodrich Safety Silvertown Tire. This is the tire with the Life-Saver Golden Ply, the remarkable Goodrich invention that prevents blowouts.

In our opinion this new blowout-preventing tire is the biggest contribution to motoring safety since the introduction of the balloon tire.

Meets Today's Demands

It is a most timely development, coming as it does at a time when smooth, banked highways and high speed motors place a terrific strain on tires and make the hazard of blow-outs infinitely greater.

Today's high speeds—40, 50, 60 and 70 miles an hour generate terrific heat inside your tires. This heat causes rubber and fabric to separate. A blister starts ... and grows ... bigger and bigger—until BANG—a blow-out! And what happens then isn't pleasant to think about.

Thus blisters don't form inside the tire. Blow-outs are prevented by overcoming their CAUSE.

Safest Anti-Skid Tread

The new Goodrich Safety Silvertown is safer from skidding, too. Its squeegee drying action gives your car extra road grip, and reduces the danger of skidding to a minimum.

The best part of this good news is that the new Silvertown, with the Life-Saver Golden Ply, costs not a single penny more than any standard tire. So play safe. Come in today. Take advantage of our new low prices.

How New Invention Prevents Blow-Outs

The new Goodrich Life-Saver Golden Ply is designed to overcome this hazard. It resists the most terrific, internal heat. Rubber and fabric don't separate.

Politics at Random

THE one certain thing about Prof. Moley's sudden appointment to investigate the crime wave is that this selection will have the heartfelt approval of his superior officer at the state department, Secretary Hull.

Should Moley's inquiry take him abroad, as it probably will, Hull will bid him bon voyage, and a long farewell. For he will know that when the traveler returns, he (Hull) will be in South America on a special mission of his own, and the two may never meet as colleagues again.

This is no contradiction of those official statements saying Moley and Hull are "in perfect accord"—provided you read these statements carefully. They are quite certainly in perfect accord that Mr. Roosevelt has acted wisely in giving Moley a new job prior to Hull's return from London.

Campaign Evolution

The story of Moley is one of the most interesting of these interesting days.

A charter member of the "brain trust" of advisers during the Roosevelt campaign, he had his first really big moment when he went with the President-elect to the White House to discuss war debts with President Hoover.

The story told among Mr. Roosevelt's intimates is that he thought someone else should be present and

By BYRON PRICE
(Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

ing over the tangled affairs of the American delegation.

Hull's friends and associates showed no enthusiasm for the manner of Moley's coming, or for the tenor of messages he sent on ahead. No one knows yet what will be done about Moley's expense bill of several hundred dollars for an airplane to drop him out of the sky on the British capital.

The climax arrived when Moley negotiated his stabilization agreement, and afterward telephoned Hull asking his approval. Hull refused. Moley went ahead anyway, but his agreement was rejected by the President.

Other delegates, returning ahead of Hull, brought tidings of what might be expected once the secretary set foot again in the state department. They told Mr. Roosevelt, who regards Hull with affection and respect, that something must be done at once.

There is not the slightest sign that Moley's removal to the justice department, to organize the crime crusade, means he has lost his standing with the President. Justice is only a little farther from the White House than is state.

Moley will continue to go often to the executive offices, will be consulted about many things. But no one knows how the state department belongs to Mr. Hull.

Power of a Telescope

The brunt of star-gazers says that to determine the power of a telescope, focus it on a brick wall. With a little practice one can keep both eyes open, in which case one sees the wall directly with one eye, and sees the wall through the instrument with the other. If the magnified brick is as large as 10 magnified, the power of the telescope is 10. The telescope should be at least 100 feet from the wall.

Unusual Case in Loan Group Action

Association to Assign Mortgage to a Third Party.

An action of interest before Referee Arthur B. Ewig recently was that which involved the right of a savings and loan company to foreclose a mortgage on real property and then assign the mortgage to a third party. Although a number of other items were involved, the part of most interest is the decision that the savings and loan association was upheld in its transferring the mortgage.

The Port Jervis Real Estate and Loan Association, operating under Banking Laws of this state, enlisted Meyer A. Novick, the defendant in this action, when he subscribed to 25 shares of stock in the association, payment for which was required to be made at the rate of $1 per month per share until they reached the par value of $200 each. Upon maturity in shares would have been valued at $5,000.

At the same time the defendant borrowed the sum of $5,000 from the association and assigned and pledged his 25 shares and executed his bond in the amount of $10,000 and a mortgage upon his real property in Monticello, as collateral security for the advancement.

By the terms of the bond and mortgage the defendant was obliged to pay the association dues of $25 per month together with the sum of $20.54 monthly as interest on the loan made, and all fines, etc. The mortgage further provided that upon default in the payment of any installment of dues or interest or fines, for a period of six months, the entire amount of the loan of $5,000 would at the option of the association become due and payable.

The defendant did become in default and the association cancelled the shares of stock issued and applied their then value with accumulations and interest, first, to the fines and forfeitures arising from his defaults and the balance on account of $5,000 indebtedness, all of which when so applied, left as the plaintiff contends, a balance of $850.64. On the same day, upon the payment of $850.64 by the plaintiff in the action, to the association, there was assigned to the plaintiff by it, in writing, the bond and mortgage executed and delivered by the defendant Novick and which mortgage the plaintiff now seeks to foreclose.

Among other contentions of the defendant is this: "That the assignment of the bond and mortgage by the association to the plaintiff was ultra vires and contrary to law and to public policy and conveyed no interest to the plaintiff."

Of this Referee Ewig states: "The contention of the defendant that the assignment is ultra vires and so void is not without some force. No express power to make this assignment is given the association by the Banking Law neither is it there prohibited."

"It has been said in Jemison against Citizens' Savings Bank, 122 N. Y. 135, that a contract of a corporation is ultra vires where it involves an adventure or undertaking outside and not within the scope or power given by its charter. (See also Alexander vs. Equitable Life, 233 N. Y. 300). However, an ultra vires contract without more is not necessarily illegal. "The word ultra vires and illegality represent totally different distinct ideas. A contract may have both aspects but it may also have one without the other."

"White on N. Y. Corp. P. 131. It is where an ultra vires contract is likewise illegal that it cannot be enforced but such illegality must affect and be contrary to public policy."

Moss vs. Cohen 155 N. Y. 540.

Bath vs. Claff 151 N. Y. 24.

Chelton Trust Co. vs. National Automatic Press 215 App. Div. 380.

"It is only by virtue of the express provision of the Banking Law that this association is permitted to receive in payment for its loans, interest, fines, penalties and membership fees, totaling in excess, the legal rate of 6 per cent. Any attempt on the part of any individual or other corporation not organized under the Banking Law to exact such fees or to pursue a method of business dealings similar to that engaged in by the Association would clearly be illegal. Any attempt to give to such an individual or corporation by indirect means like powers would be likewise invalid and if the assignment in question could clothe the plaintiff with the powers and the responsibilities of the Association, it is doubtful that it could be enforced by him."

Messole Securities vs. Cosman 253 N. Y. 130.

The good faith of the plaintiff and the Association has not been questioned. In fact, the plaintiff here asks for no more than the legal rate of 6 per cent interest on the balance due on the mortgage; but if by this assignment the plaintiff could legally demand interest at any greater rate, then serious doubt is raised as to the validity of the assignment."

"On April 27, 1932, because of the defaults of the defendant, the Association had the right to elect the entire principal indebtedness as due and payable and upon such election, the defendant became entitled to have his loan credited with the full value of his shares, leaving to the Association the right to proceed to foreclose the mortgage for the balance."

Any overt or affirmative act on the part of the Association evidencing such an election was sufficient."

Our New 'Spare Time'—How'll We Spend It?

"American Ruhr" Chief Factors Specialized Instruction. Organized Recreation For Leisure Hours

Will the promised extra leisure of America's workers be capitalized as an asset or wasted as 'spare time'? In this article, second of a series, is the outline of plans devised by Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, head of the Tennessee Valley authority, attacking this problem as it arises in a vast reclamation and power development.

By ALEXANDER E. GEORGE.

Washington (AP)—Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, head of the Tennessee Valley project, plans to bring to the workers on that job and to their families "some joy in living and a constructive use of their leisure time" as well as the needed employment and the bare necessities of existence.

"The increase of leisure afforded by the national program for shorter work weeks will not add anything to our civilization unless we develop discrimination in the utilization of these spare hours," said the engineer-educator, who will direct the big power and reclamation enterprise.

Village Life "Deadly." "Our village life has been deadly; our recreation has been tragic," he said. "One trouble is that life in this country has been too much a matter of production, generally in its mass forms, without sufficient consideration being given to real living."

On Dr. Morgan's program for development of well rounded communities in "The American Ruhr" are individual craftsmanship, training in home management, intelligent buying and budgeting of the family dollar, gardening, community music, organized amateur sports, adult education, nature study and improvement of fishing and hunting grounds.

Training Program Planned.

Dr. Morgan says the men to be employed in building Cove creek dam and other projects in the Tennessee valley will be mostly young men from the mountain regions who have returned to their homes after losing jobs in industrial centers.

"Our plan is to work these men three or four days a week and then with the value thereof is a sufficient election. From that time on, the defendant no longer had any membership rights in the Association and the Association was entitled to payment in full of the remaining balance of the loan. It no longer was entitled to any fines or penalties, nor could it demand interest in the amount provided in the mortgage, namely, $20.54 monthly. The mortgage contract, having been violated, it was terminated by the actions of the Association and the defendant became liable to pay only the balance of the debt plus interest by way of damage at a rate not exceeding 6 per cent.

Seller vs. Leiter, 114 App. Div. 148. Rev. on other grounds 153 N. Y. 381.

Ferris vs. Hard, 135 N. Y. 554 at page 355.

Weyand vs. Park, 135 App. Div. 821. Rev. on other grounds 202 N. Y. 231.

"On April 27, 1932, when the Association assigned the bond and mortgage to the plaintiff, it could transfer no more than such rights as it then had and by the assignment, the plaintiff received the bond and mortgage with the incidental right to demand of the defendant payment of the balance of $850.64 with interest from that date at the rate of 6%. The plaintiff could no more seek to enforce the collection of any greater sum than could the Association. What would have been the effect of this assignment had it been made before the Association had elected to consider the entire principal due and when the bond and mortgage contract was in full force and effect, is not an issue before this court. The assignment of the bond and mortgage in the manner made by the Association while perhaps ultra vires is not illegal nor does it contravene public policy or any express statute so as to warrant this court in holding that it is void."

"The motion made by the defendant at the opening of the case and at the close of the plaintiff's case and at the close of the entire case for a dismissal of the plaintiff's complaint is denied and the defendant is given an exception."

"Judgment for plaintiff."

"Submit findings and judgment accordingly."

LEGION PLANS ANNUAL CLAMBAKE SUNDAY

The annual clambake of Kingston Post, American Legion will be held on Sunday afternoon, August 20, at the I. J. B. Ark located along the shore of the Rondout Creek on Abbot street this side of Edenville. The bake is not restricted to members of the legion but is open to the public. Serving of the bake will commence at three o'clock and continue until all have been served. The putting up of the bake will be in charge of John Schuster, who is an expert in his line. Cars will be furnished for those who would like to attend; bake and have no means of transportation. Tickets can be obtained from members of the Legion or at the Memorial Building.

The Maelstrom

The Maelstrom is a rapid current or tidal whirlpool off the northwest coast of Norway. It runs with the tide alternately six hours from north to south and six from south to north, producing immense whirls. When the wind is northwest and opposed to the rollers of waves, it attains its greatest fury, but in ordinary circumstances it can be traversed without difficulty.

Obtain Postal Service

The Chinese postal service is said to be the oldest of its kind in the world. It began in 1122 B. C.

Constructive use of leisure appears to Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, head of the Tennessee Valley Authority, a necessity if America's new "spare time" is to prove an asset. He proposes training in crafts, gardening, organized sports and adult study as some of the avenues of improvement through leisure.

to ask them to put probably 15 hours a week in training," he said. "We are building up a staff to conduct this training."

"The workers will be trained in hygiene, sanitation and in the art of taking care of their homes. They will be given a good working knowledge of plumbing, electrical installation and furniture repairing. Wives of workers will be taught home management and the significance of food values."

"A man with an education in psychology, which enables him to make his dollar go twice as far, is as well off as if he had twice as many dollars," Dr. Morgan said. "We have stressed too much the making of money while we have not sufficiently emphasized the intelligent spending of it."

Develop Native Culture.

"In villages where there has been virtually no recreation or amusements except the movies and pool halls we plan to bring athletic games and to revive folk dances which have been dying out because of lack of appreciation. We hope to enhance the respect of these people for their own culture."

Efforts will be made to establish a system of adult education patterned to some extent after the folk schools in Denmark whose revival of interest and pleasure in learning, Dr. Morgan says, has been amazing. In the Danish folk schools no students under 18 years of age are admitted, but those who attend continue the studies throughout their lives.

"Arrangements will be made to provide two or three acres of garden for each family for the growing of foodstuffs and some flowers, while community music is also on the program," he said.

Build Small Industries.

"We plan later to bring in a few thoroughly qualified artists in furniture design and iron work who may be able to bring about development of small industries based upon individuality and craftsmanship for which there exists a large American market," he added.

Dr. Morgan said some of the little "shoe-string villages" in the mountains couldn't afford to duplicate the facilities of larger towns. They can't support an electrician, a plumber, a pipe fitter and an automobile mechanic.

"But they could afford a community mechanic who could do all these things to a reasonable degree," he said. "It is our business to see that some of the power project workers are trained to perform such functions for the community."

BEAUTY SHOP OWNERS TO ORGANIZE SOCIETY

A committee to take action on the forming of an Ulster County Association for beauty shop owners and operators was selected at a meeting of that group held in the city court room last night to discuss steps to be taken in cooperation with the NRA program. A suggestion was made in order to organize properly, a representative of the New York State Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association should be brought here to organize the association, then the hairdressers would thoroughly understand what an association really means. Those named on the committee were Mrs. George D. Logan, Mr. Roberts of Hicks & Roberts, and Mrs. Charles Klein. They will draft a letter to be forwarded to the national committee requesting the assistance of an organizer to aid in forming the local association, which will include all of Ulster county.

Previous to the opening of the business session Judge Culliton, general of the local NRA drive, explained the provision of the blanket code.

Notice of the date for an organization meeting will be given later and it is hoped there will be a hundred per cent attendance.

Light Faster Than Sound

Light waves travel nearly a million times faster than sound waves, their respective speeds being 186,264 miles a second against 1,083 feet a second. The speed of light is constant, while that of sound waves varies somewhat according to temperature. Sight and hearing are merely the means of registering on the consciousness the presence of light and sound waves.

"Keep cool with crisp, light foods"

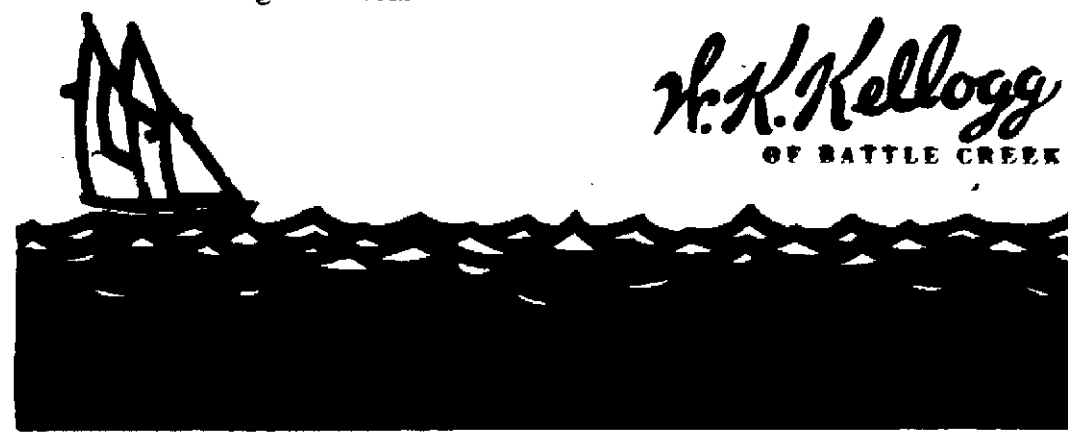

EVERY ONE has had the experience of eating a heavy meal on a hot day and of feeling lousy and uncomfortable afterwards. In truth, food plays a big part in how we feel.

Crisp, light foods naturally help you feel cooler and fresher. That's why Kellogg's Corn Flakes are so popular when the thermometer begins to climb. Millions of people know Kellogg's mean coolness.

There's good reason too. Kellogg's are crisp, refreshing flakes of corn. Rich in energy—so easy to digest they don't "heat you up." Economical, convenient—no cooking or trouble to prepare.

Countless mothers serve Kellogg's Corn Flakes for the children's evening meal—particularly in summer. It's the kind of light meal that encourages restful sleep.

And no matter how hot or humid the weather, you'll always find Kellogg's crisp and oven-fresh... protected by the sealed inside WAXTITE bag. Every package that leaves Battle Creek is guaranteed.

Lights of New York

by L. L. STEVENSON

Curious, the articles guests have found them in hotel check rooms in this mad Manhattan. For instance, at the Hotel New Yorker, a champagne bottle has been standing on a shelf for the last two and a half years. Around its neck is a small card which bears a number. That number is the only identification of the owner the hotel has. The other half of the check may have been destroyed or lost but the bottle will be there ten years from now unless claimed. Besides the bottle of champagne, in a box of orchids, which was checked by a young man. The orchids are just a bit faded. They were left a year ago.

The check room boy is city-bred. But he is an expert on chickens and knows a lot about ferrets. In both instances, his education was forced on him. A crate of chickens was left in his care for five days. Each day, he fed and watered them and when the holder of the check showed up, all the chickens were alive and well. A pair of ferrets was left for three days. But that was enough. Ferrets do not make the best company.

Last fall, the head of a suburban household brought in a window screen, presumably to match it. But the screen is still there. So are two shotguns, checked six months ago. Then there's a radio set somewhat out of date now because it was checked three years ago. A straw helmet, worn by some explorer in South American jungles, has been lying on a shelf a year and a half, while a basket of china from the Orient has been there two and a half years.

Included in the inventory of course are all kinds and sizes of grips and suitcases, some of which have been there three years. In addition is a tent, which has been on hand a year. A pair of riding boots was checked three years ago. A golfer left his clubs behind some time ago and a pair of faded satin slippers testifies to the absent-mindedness of some young woman. Then there are also an antique chair and a motorcycle windshield.

One hotel patron parks his winter hat in a check room every spring and his straw hat in the fall.

A shoe salesman, who recently lost his job in an expensive shop through an economy move, is about to go into business on his own without expending a cent for stock. It seems that the rule in that particular store, at least, is that when a customer returns a pair of shoes because of an improper fit, the store takes back the pinching pair and gives her a new one. The shoes thus returned must be paid for by the salesman and become his property. So the former salesman intends to dispose of his accumulation at retail, with replacements from stocks acquired by his fellow workers.

Squirrel lovers are writing letters to the Times about dogs. Several who walk through the parks mornings used to feed ten or more of the bushy-tailed animals. Now they find only a few. They are inclined to blame dog owners who, when they take their pets out for a stroll, allow them to run about unmuzzled.

This Man Hasn't Tasted Water for Thirty Years

Rockport, Mass.—Water, water everywhere, but not a drop to drink, has been John E. Sullivan's slogan for nearly half a lifetime.

To his total abstinence from drinking water, he attributes his rugged health.

Thirty years ago, Sullivan, this seaport's veteran police chief, decided he didn't like the taste of water. Since then he hasn't swallowed a drop of it, quenching his thirst with tea, coffee, milk, and, of late, 3.2 beer.

Six feet tall and weighing 210 pounds, he boasts that he has not known any serious illness since he got off the water wagon.

Farm Horse Is Regaining Favor, Survey Reveals

Bozeman, Mont.—The farm horse is coming back on Montana ranches, surveys by the Montana state college extension service indicate. Figures gleaned from 24 of the state's 56 counties recently showed increases in the number of farm horses ranging from 2 to 50 per cent.

Man's Job "Snap" Turns Off Lights

Oklahoma City, Okla.—Clarence P. Craig, fifty-four, turner of lights in downtown store show windows, has a job that is almost a perpetual "snap." For 15 years he has made nightly rounds to an average of 300 stores, accumulating a total of approximately 1,700,000 twists of light switches to the "off" position. During Craig's long years on the job he has walked an estimated 330,000 miles around town, wearing the soles off a pair of shoes each two months.

Hogan's Truckers Stop Lumbermen In League Upset

The forty Van Ethen & Hogan Truckers run to their highest at the Athletic Field Thursday evening and made the league leading Schryvers Lumbermen for a 3-2 loss, thus prolonging the second half of the City League. Now, instead of the Lumbermen starting a series with the Repealers Saturday they have to win one more game before they can clinch the second half, which will enable them to meet the Repealers, winners of the first half.

The Lumbermen also had their string of seven consecutive wins snapped. The whole cause of the upset was the pitching of Joe Mahar and the hitting of the Truckers in the pinches. Both teams were handicapped by a poor field caused by a continuous drizzle of rain.

Big Ed Wilson, Schryvers ace, was the victim of the Truckers' uprisings. He not only allowed timely hits but paved the way to the Truckers' runs with his wildness, passing four and hitting one batsman.

It was Mahar's second appearance on the mound in two nights. He was found for the same number of hits, six, as Wilson, but was better in the pinches.

Tommy Lamb opened the game with a single to left field and Purvis reached first on Niles' error. Walker to Stewart and Keator forced Lamb in. Proctor singled to score Purvis and Stewart.

The Truckers scored one more in the second, three in the third and one in the fourth. The Lumbermen's runs came in the third and fifth innings.

Heroic Meet Schryvers Monday

Schryvers' Lumbermen again will try to clinch the second half of the City League when they meet the Herzog Hardwaremen at the Athletic Field Monday night. Dewey Van Buren and Jack Robbins will form the Lumbermen's battery. Ed Fiedling and Joe Messinger will do the honors for the Hardwaremen.

Central Hudson at Mohonk Saturday

The Central Hudson squad will ride up the mountain Saturday and play the Lake Mohonk team. The game will start at 3 o'clock standard time. The locals have long been preparing for this event and they expect to slide down the mountain again on a winning score.

Best and Wilson will make up Mohonk's battery and Slicker, the Central Hudson ace, who allowed the Central Hudson of Poughkeepsie four hits and fanned 11 men, recently, will be on the throne for Kingston with Joe Hoffman behind the plate. Benny Short, manager of the Kingston Gas & Electric team, is hoping that Bob Slicker will be in the same form for this Saturday's engagement.

Tagging Major League Bases

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The name of Leroy (Bud) Parmelee, the big "freshman" flinger, already has been placed near the top of the list of reasons why the New York Giants are leading the National League. But the young right hander who led the American Association with Columbus last season still is seeking the no-hit game he has approached at least twice this season.

In his first start, Parmelee allowed the Phillies only one hit for a 2 to 1 victory. Yesterday he came just about as close to his perfect game as he blanked the same team with two safeties to win 4 to 0. In between he has hurled a couple of four-hit games and established himself as one of the outstanding young hurlers by winning ten games and losing only five in 22 appearances on the hill.

For seven innings yesterday, Parmelee didn't give a hit, allowed only one walk and hit one batsman as he burned in his last ball where the batters couldn't see it under the gray sky and tricked them with effective curves and change of pace. Wes Schulmerich broke the spell with a single to start the eighth, and after walking a second man, Parmelee pulled out again with two strikeouts and went on until two were out in the ninth before Chuck Klein smacked a single for the second Philly hit.

The Giants got two of their runs on George Davis' homer in the fifth and the other pair on timely swats against Snipe Hansen. The victory increased New York's lead to 3½ games over Pittsburgh as the Pirates' opening battle with the Chicago Cubs, the only other game on the National League schedule, was rained out.

The Washington Senators made the same improvement in their position in the American League standing, boosting their lead over the New York Yankees to 3½ games with a 5-3 triumph over the Boston Red Sox. Kahn halted the Yankees' game with Philadelphia's Athletics after the pitchers had warmed up to start. The Senators, as usual, found the Red Sox tough customers, but after trailing 3-0 in the fourth, they came back to get the customary victory as Al Crowder and Jack Russell prevented any serious hitting. An error and two hits, including one by Marty McManus that went for a triple when Buddy Myer and Goose Goslin collided under a fly gave Boston its three runs. Washington got two of them back, then settled the game with a three-run outburst in the eighth when a pass to Dave Harris forced in one run and Goslin's single brought in two more.

The Chicago White Sox advanced to threaten the fourth place rivals, Detroit and Cleveland, by beating the Tigers 6 to 3 in the other game on the program. Sad Sam Jones gave the Tigers only eight hits while the Sox poked out 13 off Carl Fischer and Eldon Auker hunching most of them in the early innings and "coasting" in while Jones got better and better as the game wore on. The victory left Chicago only two games back of Detroit and a half game behind the Cleveland Indians, who, bracketed with St. Louis, had an open date.

Joe Kuhel, Senators' Rapped Boston pitching for two doubles and two singles. Bud Parmelee, Giants—Shut out Phillies with two hits to win 4-0. Evan Swanson, White Sox—Clouted triple and two singles against Tigers.

HIGHLAND A. C. FALLS VICTIM OF TROJANS, 3-2
The Kingston Trojans swung their Indian clubs and took the scalps of the Highland A. C., 3-2, Thursday evening at Highland. Celuch pitched for the locals and allowed four hits with the Trojans finding Marone for seven.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN J. COLE
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

The Giants are ready for the Yankees to come through again in the American League race, in the hope that if they (the Giants) make their drive to the top there will be a chance to renew one of baseball's keener rivalries on a five-cent fare basis.

But the players do not talk about this openly. Any discussion of what they might do with the extra money to be derived from a world series is taboo. Ball players are among our most superstitious athletes. In the midst of a winning streak or when they are on top, they are fearful of any stray or occult influence, no matter how slight.

Should a left-handed pitcher be detected writing to the home folks in August, inquiring what they might like to have in the way of world series tickets in October, he probably would be knocked out of the box in the first inning of his next start and it would serve him right.

Throw-Back

But this is not to say the Giants are neither proud of their achievements to date or lacking in confidence they can stay on top. The 1933 Giants are a throw-back to some of John McGraw's palmyest aggregations, except that their leader is out in the thick of the battle, personally, instead of instilling fighting spirit from the bench.

Shortstop John C. (Blondy) Ryan knew he was taking a big risk when he made a lay on Joe Medwick of the Cardinals at second base a month ago, but Blondy made it, got his man and came up with a spike catch that kept him out of action for two weeks.

It was on his way to rejoin the club in the west that he dispatched his classic telegram to Terry: "They cannot beat us. En route. J. C. Ryan."

While Ryan was out of the game, the Giants dropped seven tough games in a row—six of which they might have won with the young shortstop "in there"—but they snapped out of the slump as quickly as they struck it.

"Sure, they can knock us down, but we get right back up and let go another punch," says Terry. "Just when I think it cannot possibly be done, why someone does it. I'm having the thrill of my baseball life leading this outfit."

The Hot Mr. Hubbell

Speaking of pitching, of which the Giants have been getting plenty to offset batting weakness, Carl Hubbell has already given enough evidence to justify the contention he is the ablest finger, right or left-handed, in either league today.

In registering eight shutouts, Hubbell already has eclipsed the best performance of this kind since Grover Cleveland Alexander was in his prime and set a major league mark of 16 shutouts during the 1916 season.

"Alex" handed out nine blanks in 1919 but no pitcher since then has done even that well. Babe Adams of the Pirates scored eight shutouts in 1921 and the high mark since then for either big league is six. Lefty Grove, in his best year, 1931, produced only four shutouts.

It must be considered, too, that one of Hubbell's shutouts was his 15-inning, 1 to 0 decision over the Cardinals.

All Stars Book Crack Philadelphia Pros

The Kingston All Stars have reached the high light of the season in bringing the Philadelphia Pros here Sunday to play at the Fair Grounds. The Pros are widely known and have distinguished themselves in big time baseball. They play series each year with such clubs as the Bushwicks, Springfield and Bay Parkways.

Bringing such an outstanding aggregation here is an example of the effort put forth by booking manager, John McCordie, who revealed last night that the Philadelphia team is being brought here only under great expense and that the support of the public would be sign of appreciation for the effort made in bringing good teams here for their entertainment.

Sunday should see one of the best ball games on the Fair Grounds that has been played this season, and it has been noticed that the All Stars play their best baseball against the high rating clubs. Past games have showed this. So with the locals at their best against a top notch, since the battle should be a "corker."

Crystal Gardens Meet Rennselaer

The Crystal Gardens will encounter a good ball club Sunday afternoon on the Pan Am diamond when it meets the Miller A. C. from Rennselaer, the champions of the twilight league of that place. Their reputation is far flung and without a doubt, the Miller Club is one of the most outstanding teams in upper New York.

Lannon, who pitched for the Rennselaer Giants when they played the Crystal Gardens in the early part of the season, will be on the mound for the visitors Sunday. Lannon had great success the last time he met the locals. Besides showing them out with a 2-0 score, he allowed but two hits. This indicates a tough battle for the Gardens.

Connelly Wins From Woodstock

Connelly A. C. won from Woodstock, 5-2 on the St. Remy diamond Thursday night. Ed Scherer pitched his usual bang up game and Johnny Kosloskie caught. Kosloskie stole the spotlight of the game with a homer.

Reports were that Woodstock had enlisted many members of the Bushwicks to play with them in the game against Connelly. However, their strengthened lineup went for naught.

The score by inning:

Woodstock	0	0	2	0	2
Connelly	4	0	0	0	1-5

Aces Won Thursday

The Aces defeated the Broadway A. C. at the Athletic Field Thursday by a score of 10 to 9. Snyder pitched for the aces, with Hornbeck and Finnerty catching. Battery for the A. C. was Struble and Gemmel. They will play again Monday.

Dow Ahern of Willimantic, Conn., wasn't shooting for a birdie when he tried this one in the New England amateur. All he wanted was a ball and he got it. It happened on the 19th of an extra hole match. Ahern mounted the ladder, and played the ball from this strange lie to the green, whence he dropped it for a half. However, he lost the match on the next hole.

the broken and not being rushed immediately to the hospital.

Well, the boy was in the afternoon and everything was done to ease him. Could the boy be immediately rushed to the hospital (at night) after such a shock? He was given a hypo and he slept peacefully until morning when he was taken to the best hospital in these parts, the Veterans' Hospital in Salt Lake City, Utah, where he would receive the best attention he could get. Also two men volunteered and stood up all night with him.

About our captain. I wish to say I have never seen a man as square and kind hearted as he is. He would gladly give you the shirt off his back.

The "Louts" and the Company Sergeant are both men that feel for the men in this company and do everything in their power to ease the lot of the men here. So, I want you people to just read between the lines of those false letters written in by a bunch of disgruntled scoundrels.

Sincerely yours,

A NEW YORK STATE BOY.

THROUGH A Woman's Eyes

By JEAN NEWTON

"YOU DON'T KNOW HOW MUCH FUN I'M HAVING"

I WENT with my friend to the dressmaker. She was having an alteration made on a great bargain she had bought at a sale. That's what they all went to this seamstress for—you know the clever women who can be smart on little because they know just where to buy and then have the most marvelous little woman who makes a perfect fit of it for so little.

It must be perfect, the little woman's work, and "for little" because when we arrived her customers were literally standing in line, waiting for her. They worked fast, and her assistant, fitting one woman after another, busy fingers flying with never a moment's respite.

Twice the little woman's children, home from school, came to interrupt her. She answered them patiently, while her fingers kept right on with their task.

On a table near her was a cup of tea and part of a sandwich—her unfinished luncheon, at three in the afternoon. The assistant kept reminding the little woman about her tea. But she had no time for it.

Several of the customers knew each other, and they talked, as they stood around waiting. A general conversation, with every one, even the busy little woman, joining in. They were discussing each other's ages, each woman taking her turn at surprising the group by telling how old she was. Of course, nobody believed it. An elderly lady said she was seventy-two.

"I'd be proud," said the little dressmaker to her, "to look like that at your age—if I ever reach it at all."

A rather soft-faced woman who had been sitting leisurely waiting spoke up: "You won't miss much if you don't."

"Wouldn't I?" quickly retorted the little dressmaker, bent there on her knees on an extremely hot day, her unfinished lunch beside her, her fingers unrelaxed, "I think I would! You don't know how much fun I'm having."

Cleveland's Affliction

About three months after his second inauguration, President Grover Cleveland noticed an ulcerated patch in his mouth. He sought medical care at once. The army surgeon immediately suspected a malignant condition. There was no delay. The President consented to an operation but only on condition that it would be kept a secret in order that the public might not be alarmed. The operation was performed in a dramatic way, and the details of it were not revealed until twenty-five years later when it was described in a magazine article—Hypnotic Health Magazine.

Salem, Mass., Aug. 11 (AP).—Hearing of evidence in the trial of Joseph B. Costello, charged with the poison slaying of her husband, William J. Costello, a Peabody fire captain, was concluded today. The trial was adjourned until Monday when arguments of counsel will begin.

SHOKAN

Shokan, Aug. 11.—Mrs. Marie English and Miss K. Gili, both of Brooklyn, are numbered among the guests at the William Windrum cottage.

The exterior of the new summer residence of Miss Clara Lennox of Kingston has been completed by Julius and Earl North, local building contractors.

The 215th Company baseball team is scheduled to cross bats with the Chateaufort team tonight and with the Pine Hill nine on Sunday.

Burt Wheat, proprietor of the Shokan Garage, was successful in his well-digging operations at his place in the west end, and now has the water pumped into a tank in his house by the electric system.

Mrs. Rupert Everett of Lake Katrine called on some of her Shokan friends earlier in the week. The Everetts formerly resided on the Kirt farm on the mountain road, and Mrs. Everett was born and brought up on the E. C. Postock place.

Mrs. J. Townsend of New York city, a summer visitor of long standing, is enjoying a vacation at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Gilles.

Emil Brunnell, famous photography artist, is enjoying country life at his Chalet Indian on the north boulevard. Mr. Brunnell and his friend, Colonel "Tom" Spencer, spend many pleasant hours whipping the trout streams of the upper Esopus Valley. Under Colonel Spencer's efficient tutelage, Mr. Brunnell has developed into a nearly as successful fisherman as the Old Master himself. Their latest combined catch, made a few days ago, was 30 trout, all of which were lifted from nearby streams.

William Lawson, Jr., is reported to have undergone an operation while on a visit to Cleveland, O. Young Lawson is a student at Cornell University.

On August 12, 1891, a large number of people from this section went on an Ulster & Delaware R. R. excursion to Bloomingville. While the little Delaware county town of those days offered but few attractions to visitors, the place was the terminus of the railroad and therefore the folks who took the trip up the old U. & D. had the satisfaction of having "been to the end of the line."

Oscar Knorr of Cottekill was a business caller in the hub of the Ashokan country Thursday morning.

Clyde Everett, a former Shokan boy, is numbered among the woodmen of the 215th Co. C. C. C., in DUTCVILLE.

Extensive repairs are being made to the New York Central railroad a few rods west of the Ashokan depot.

Mrs. William Mensch and Master Will Kaiser are numbered among the city boarders in the VanSteenburgh Road sector.

Home Markle, of "Twin Trees", is repainting the exterior of Herbert A. Dibble's shop in the west end of the village.

Elwyn Winchell celebrated his 71st birthday today. Mr. Winchell began his career as a storekeeper 54 years ago in the old gristmill store at Shokan, and is still active in the general merchandising business. He has served many years as postmaster and deputy having had the local post office at the time it was removed to its new location following the completion of the reservoir.

Add to previous mentioned north boulevard flower display, the beds of massed blooms at Mt. Laurel Lodge, summer home of Mrs. Wilhelmina Fuller. Here, obviously, is still another outstanding beauty spot of the Ashokan country.

The recently deepened dug well at Supervisor C. A. Lyons's Ashokan Garage has eight feet of water in it. Very satisfactory indeed, considering the fact that nearly every other household is hiking back and forth from his neighbor's well.

William J. Hall of New York city is a guest at the Brundage farmhouse on the mountain road. This is Mr. Hall's first visit to Shokan in four years.

Rather interesting, in connection with the occupying by the Rev. David Weldner of the Shokan Reformed Church pulpit next Sunday morning, is the recollection that the reverend gentleman as a young man preached one of his first sermons in the old Shokan Church on August 18, 1900; also that he received much of his early religious training in the local Reformed Sunday School.

Allen S. Dawe of Newburgh, district representative of General Foods, Inc., was a business caller here Thursday morning.

Theresa Burke of New Paltz was guests of Miss Helen Gilmore at the Windrum cottage Wednesday.

On Wednesday evening the Waldorf orchestra of Peabody visited the conservation corps camp and entertained the woodsmen and soldiers with a concert.

The many friends here of Harry Jones of Tongore were sorry to learn of the death of Mr. Jones' young son earlier in the week.

Henry Wells has returned to work in Woodstock after having been laid up for several days with blood poisoning in his hand.

William Windrum is in New York city on an extended business trip.

The annual fair and supper of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Reformed Church, held at the church on Wednesday afternoon and evening was well attended. There were many attractive articles on sale at the several booths, and the stands were well patronized by home folks and visitors from other places.

Mrs. Louis E. Robbe, who died at her home in Larchmont Tuesday, was at one time a resident of Shokan, having made her home in the green bungalow now owned by Joseph Reilly while her husband, a Board of Water Supply engineer, was engaged in reservoir construction work here.

Evidence Concluded.

Salem, Mass., Aug. 11 (AP).—Hearing of evidence in the trial of Joseph B. Costello, charged with the poison slaying of her husband, William J. Costello, a Peabody fire captain, was concluded today. The trial was adjourned until Monday when arguments of counsel will begin.

Dates Announced For Dutchess Fair

The dates of the 69th Annual Dutchess County Fair have been officially announced as Tuesday, August 29, Wednesday, August 30, Thursday, August 31, and Friday, September 1.

Many unusual attractions are being offered this year, among them the annual horse and pony show to be held on Wednesday and Thursday of Fair week. Last year 150 of the finest thoroughbreds in the country appeared in the show. This year special interest is shown in this department for President Roosevelt is donating a cup for the best horse or pony in the show. The President's family have been exhibitors in the horse show at the county fair for years and doubtless Roosevelt entries will appear again this year, handled as usual by the President's sons.

The longest and shortest days are determined by the summer and winter solstices, the exact time being determined by mathematical calculation. The solstices are the times of the year when the sun is at its greatest declination either north or south. The summer solstice is the time at which the sun reaches its farthest point in its swing northward from the equator, and which accordingly marks the longest day in the year. The year consists of approximately 365 days, and the solstices fluctuate because of the fractional day of each year; this is adjusted by the leap years.

The difference in length, however, from the days immediately preceding and following the longest and shortest days of the year is only a fraction of a minute.

Longest, Shortest Days

Determined by Solstices

In places using standard time the longest day may be either June 21 or June 22. In each year preceding leap year the longest day is June 21, while in other years it is June 22. And the shortest day in the year may be either December 21 or December 22. It is December 22 in all years except leap years.
